

Expression of Interest Form: Canine Cancer Trial University of Queensland

We are looking to recruit dogs with either mast cell tumour or malignant melanoma in the Brisbane area. Owner must be able to travel to the Gatton Campus of the University of Queensland for treatment and follow up

Ideal candidates for the trial will have had a formal diagnosis of their tumour by biopsy and be untreatable by other means. Treatment involves injection of a product that stimulates your dogs' own immune system to fight their cancer. There is also blood work and follow up examinations involved. If you are interested in participating in this trial then please fill out the following information and we will get back to you with more details.
